Present Efficient Government or Promises Says Schwenk is Only Issue for Voters.

"The money collected in taxes from the residents of Kingston during the last four years has not been squandered to build up a political machine, but it has been used to give improved municipal services at lower cost to all of our citizens," said Mayor C. J. Heiselman addressing the big Republican rally Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Fourth Ward Republican Club on Delaware avenue. The mayor, who was greeted with tremendous applause, gave a brief resume of what his administration had accomplished during the last four years.

"Two years ago," said the mayor, "we made certain promises when we announced our platform, and then we proceeded to carry out those promises. He have given the city improved service in all departments at lower cost to those who have to foot the bills. When we came into office it was to find the street department without adequate equipment. Soon we will be moving into the new municipal garage, built as a WPA project, and the city now has sufficient modern and up to the minute equipment to fill that garage and when the men employed by the city are now sent out on a job they have the equipment with which to do the job."

Mayor Heiselman called attention to the work being performed by the city health board in holding many clinics throughout the year in the city. He called attention to the diptheria clinic where children are immunized against this dread disease, and where children may be vaccinated against smallpox. Under the urging of the health department the state had established a child hygiene clinic in Kingston to combat the infant mortality rate, and today the city is not only working to lower the death rate among newborn babies but also saving the lives of the mothers.

City Laboratory
With the assistance of the city laboratory the physicians of the city were able to give patients better service. These were but a few of the improvements that have been made in the city's health service to the community, and without additional cost to the taxpayer.

Mayor Heiselman called attention to the improved street lighting in the city. He said that the system had been improved 50 per cent. over what it was four years ago, and all without much additional cost to the city. The uptown business district was declared by lighting experts to be the best lighted area in any city between Buffalo and New York, and this system was now to be installed in the downtown business district, while Broadway for its entire length was to be given better lighting.

With all the improvements and forward strides in municipal service Mayor Heiselman said that he had been able to give the city the three lowest tax rates in the last 10 years. "Ten years ago the city had no old age relief, was not expending huge sums on work and home relief, were not spending large sums so that needy people might have proper hospital care, and all of the other increased expenditures made necessary by the darkest years in the city's history. And yet through these depression years his bills paid and his credit A No. 1 as was shown in recent sale of city bonds which sold for the lowest interest rate in the history of the city."

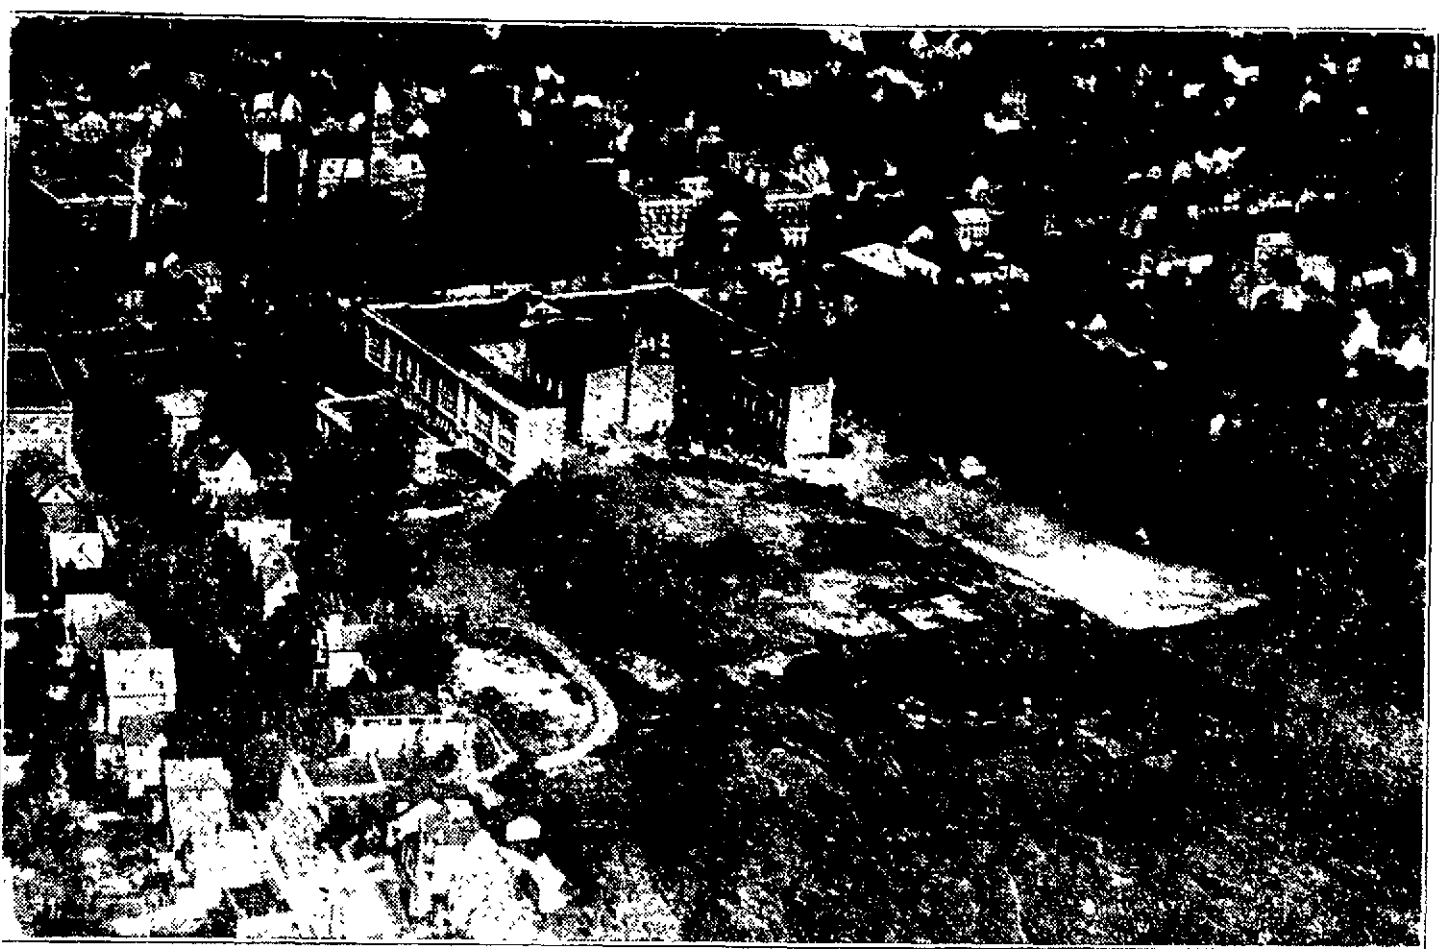

Mayor Heiselman said the results that had been accomplished had been accomplished, not by himself alone but with the aid of every city officer and employee, all of whom had worked hand in hand with him to give the city honest and efficient government at low cost to the taxpayer.

The city during the depression years has paid all its bills. It did not find it necessary, as many other cities did, to pay its school teachers and workers in scrip, but paid in hard cash. The city not only had paid and is paying all of its bills, but is paying its bills ahead of time that so far it had been possible to save the city $2,500 in discounts on bills paid within a certain period.

Surplus on Hand
Every year under the Heiselman administration the city had closed the year with a surplus. This was most unusual, but it was accomplished by sound financing and the adoption of a sound financial plan which had been carried out in the last four years.

"I am no politician," said Mayor Heiselman, "some of you folks know that, but I will say and the record proves it, my administration has given the city sound, honest and efficient govern-

The outlined black area designates the foundation outline of the new Central School which was recently accepted by the city and state to eliminate the overcrowded conditions existing in our schools. A new road, as shown in the picture, will be constructed between West O'Reilly and Andrew streets to allow cars to drive to the front entrance where there will be a driving circle. In comparison with the present high school, which has an approximate base area of 37,500 square feet, the new school's area will be 22,356 square feet.

Barton Would Become The "Great Repealer"

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Bruce Barton, who wants to be known as "The Great Repealer," said today if elected to Congress he would "move to repeal a law a week."

The advertising executive, Republican nominee for congressman from the "Silk Stocking" 17th District here, said an afternoon in a law library convinced him "no other nation in the world is so ridden to death by legislation."

"I discovered that if I read a hundred laws a day, it would take two years of solid reading to cover them all," he said. "Since the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock in search of a free and simple life, 75 congresses have passed 59,232 statutes. The last Congress contributed 11,000, and President Roosevelt last summer signed 900."

County Treasurer
Warns of Tax Sale

The county treasurer's office is a busy place these days as the office force is preparing the lists of properties in the various towns of the county on which the taxes for the present year are still unpaid. These lists will be sent to the newspapers for tax sale advertising right after November 1. The board of supervisors have been more than lenient this year by allowing taxpayers until November 1 to pay their taxes without any interest charges and the county treasurer desires to call the attention of anyone having taxes to pay to the fact that if they do not pay such taxes during the month of October they will be charged for interest from last February 1 at a rate of 10 per cent per year, and they will also have to pay the tax sale advertising charges which will go on to each parcel after November 1. County Treasurer Pratt Boice will be glad to send a bill to anyone requesting same and no time should be lost in getting them in before the date mentioned. The sale will be held as usual in the month of December and as the lists must be published once a week for six weeks it means the tax sale advertising must start November 1 or shortly thereafter.

Hoover Leads List of Mourners Today
At Mills' Funeral

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover headed the list of honorary pallbearers at the funeral today of Ogden L. Mills, his secretary of the treasury.

The funeral cortege, made up of Republican and Democratic leaders alike, moved from the Mills residence, where the former secretary died Monday, to St. Thomas (Episcopal) Church on Fifth avenue for the services.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Drury, rector of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., conducted the rites, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Rogell H. Brooks, rector of St. Thomas Church.

The burial in St. James churchyard, near Staatsburg, N. Y., the Mills family home, was reserved for the family alone to witness.

Included among the honorary pallbearers were Vice President Garner, Senator Carter Glass, Alf M. Landon, and six members of the Hoover cabinet. These were Charles Francis Adams, Walter S. Brown, Arthur W. Hyde, William D. Mitchell, Ray Lyman Wilbur, and Patrick N. Hurley.

St. Thomas was filled with mourners, and hundreds gathered outside the church. Inside, the casket, altar, and choir loft were banked with flowers. Two huge floral crosses stood at each side of the bier.

An escort to the coffin was a detachment of 25 members of Lexington Post 198, American Legion, of which Mr. Mills was a charter member, and a detachment of 12 men of the Coast Guard, a branch of the treasury department.

The family group included the widow, Mr. and Mrs. John F. H. C. Phipps, Ogden Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop C. Sands, Capt. and Mrs. George R. Burgess, Miss Audrey Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Reid, Whitelaw Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Wister Randolph, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stevenson.

Predicts Early Solution

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—An official of the state police bureau of criminal investigation predicted today an early solution of the slaying of Morris B. Close, Rochester postmaster. Dr. Bradley H. Kirschberg, director of the BCI's scientific laboratory in Schenectady, waited arrival of several 33 calibre bullets found in the body of Charles Padgett, slain near Kingston City, Mo., to see if they came from the same gun which killed the Rochester postmaster. Padgett's body was covered with Close's overcoat.

Girl Sea Scout Skipper
Tells of Ice Swimming

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 14 (AP)—"In case you're struck by a yen to swim under the ice this winter, don't yield to it in the fond hope that it'll be easy to get back to the hole where you entered."

And above all, place no faith in the idea that you'll find an air space between ice and water.

Mrs. Olive McCormick, skipper of the Sea Scouts attending the 25th convention of the Girl Scouts of America, said "The hole and air bubbles in the ice look just alike to the swimmer," speaking from personal shivery experience. "And water and ice connect, leaving no air space."

Her tests were part of the safety first program of the Girl Sea Scouts, more than 2,000 of them, Mrs. McCormick said, who are "going down to the sea and loving it."

President's Mother
Sued in Accident

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Mrs. James Roosevelt of Hyde Park and New York, mother of the President, is co-defendant in a negligence suit being brought here in Supreme Court by Frederick Grewen, former glove merchant of New Rochelle, who claims he was struck by the Roosevelt car on April 3.

The suit was revealed yesterday afternoon when Justice Graham Wilschief granted Grewen an early trial on his plea that his injuries have rendered him unable to work and support his wife and infant child. He has medical bills and debts totaling $1,500, Grewen testified.

Grewen is suing for $10,000, charging that on April 3, he was struck by Mrs. Roosevelt's car, operated by her chauffeur, Louis E. DePew, a co-defendant in the action. His counsel, Thomas J. O'Neill, of New York and White Plains, said Mrs. Roosevelt was not in the car at the time and expressed doubt that she would be called as a witness.

Grewen claims he was injured as he attempted to cross Park avenue from west to east at 83rd street, New York. In an affidavit he said he was taken unconscious from the scene in an ambulance to a nearby hospital, later to be transferred to New Rochelle Hospital where he has been under treatment at intervals since May 31. He submitted an affidavit by Dr. George C. Adie of 421 Huguenot street, New Rochelle, attesting that he suffered a fractured leg and nervous shock, with resultant loss of weight and impairment of health.

Grewen claims to be permanently injured. Grewen formerly resided at 167 Center avenue, New Rochelle, but in his affidavit he said he was forced to give up his apartment. He declared he has no income but the bounty of relatives.

Paris Eases Europe
By Agreeing to Air
Duce's Question

By The Associated Press.

France lessened European tension to some extent today by agreeing that the Spanish civil war volunteer question be submitted to the non-intervention committee, as demanded by Italy, but on the other side of the world the Sino-Japanese conflict remained as menacing as ever.

While the French council of ministers was approving a plan of isolating the Spanish war, giant projectiles were exploding in the Shanghai international settlement, killing and wounding more than 100 civilians.

In Geneva, China lodged a strong protest with the League of Nations against alleged use of asphyxiating gas and dum-dum bullets by the Japanese army.

France's council of ministers approved a three-point program, drawn up at a preliminary meeting yesterday, to ease the Spanish question. The plan in brief:

France agrees to submit the volunteer question to the non-intervention committee but demands consideration of a definite plan within six or ten days.

France and Britain will maintain a common stand on the question. France reserves the right of scrapping the neutrality pact and resuming open munitions shipments to government Spain if the intervention conference fails.

This new program developed from Italy's recent refusal to participate in a three-nation (France, Britain-Italy) meeting to discuss withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain.

France and Britain were understood to be uneasy over the possibility of a diplomatic clash between Soviet Russia, supporter of the Spanish government, and Italy, supporter of the Spanish insurgents.

In Spain, the insurgents pressed their attacks on the Asturian and Aragon fronts, and continued to bombard Madrid, in an effort to bring the war to a close with the least possible delay.

Sir Geoffrey Clark, president of the Association of British Chambers of commerce, urged its members today to "keep cool" and argued against the increasing demands in Britain for anti-Japanese sanctions or a boycott.

Roland Contest

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 (AP)—Another contest was developing today over the $1,000,000 estate of the late Ruth Roland, queen of silent screen stars. Her father, John R. Roland, Sr., recently filed a contest because he was beingqueathed only $100. L. E. Kent, Miss Roland's first husband and her manager for 20 years, told probate court yesterday she gave him a $38,000 trust deed in a telephone conversation two weeks before she died, September 22. Ben Bard, Miss Roland's second husband, denied knowledge of the deed transfer although Kent said Bard took it to Miss Roland for her signature. Bard is demanding that Kent turn over to the estate certain assets and documents valued at $25,000.

Mrs. Huling was charged with unlawfully withholding property of the Colonial Dames' Chapter of which she was treasurer.

Historians Fussed, France Willing to Can't Find White Re-enter Debate on House Cornerstone Spanish Question

By EDDIE GILMORE

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—That early American mystery—what's become of the White House cornerstone?—cast an historical cloud over the executive mansion today.

It may be 145 years old and it may not be.

Like the baby who swallowed its birth certificate, the White House seems to have absorbed its cornerstone, or at least, one that has an inscription.

Historians say a group of nation-makers gathered here "on or about October 13, 1792" and shoved into place a slab of what they called the President's Palace.

But who was the chief shover, honorary or actual, and what did he do with the cornerstone?

Plagued by the puzzle, Captain Edwin P. Locke of the U. S. Engineers scraped palpit of suspicious looking White House stones and came to three conclusions:

The cornerstone is the second one from the ground on the northeast corner.

It bears no inscription nor did it ever.

The tell-tale inscription—probably on a metal plate—is stuck away behind it.

Records do show, however, some misstatements of progress in the life of the ancient house which historians say are about as important as cornerstones. For instance:

Until President John Adams moved the laborer's shacks off the grounds, his wife, Abigail, had to hang out the wash in the east room.

Dolly Madison introduced the first long table.

Jefferson brought in the first wine—$10,000 worth in eight years.

Lincoln had the biggest bed—a six-foot, four-poster that still stands.

Dolly Madison introduced the first bathtub, and Jackson ordered it out on grounds it was undecorated.

Hayes put in the first bathroom and the first telephone.

Harrison the first electric light, Coolidge the radio.

Hoover air conditioning.

Franklin Roosevelt a swimming pool.

Editors at New Orleans

New Orleans, Oct. 14 (AP)—Managing editors from member newspapers of The Associated Press met here today for their annual "shop talk." Multiple problems of the editorial room, including news, features, pictures and comics, will be discussed today and tomorrow under direction of an executive committee headed by Roy A. Roberts of the Kansas City Star.

A score of speakers lined up for informal discussions today to give special attention today to the news report and picture service of the AP. Saturday night the football-minded editors will be guests of Louisiana State University at the L. S. U.-Mississippi University game at Baton Rouge.

Paris, Oct. 14 (AP)—France is willing to re-enter debate in the London non-intervention committee on withdrawal of foreign soldiers from Spain, sources close to the foreign office affirmed today.

But is equally prepared for action in event "dilatatory" procedure develops.

Authoritative persons predicted the French council of ministers, called for today, would approve the decision made in a preliminary session yesterday.

A three-point program, it was said, already had been drafted to cover the French attitude: now that Italy had refused to join the Paris and London governments in a conference on withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain.

It provides: First—France agrees to submit the "volunteer" question to the London committee but demands consideration of a definite plan within six to 10 days.

Second—France and Britain will maintain a common attitude on the entire problem.

Third—Paris reserves the privilege in the event the 27-nation committee is unable to agree on withdrawing foreign troops, of scrapping the neutrality pact and resuming commercial relations with the Spanish Republican government.

The French reservations would include the possibility of making arms shipments across the Pyrenees frontier and of taking "technical" measures to protect her communications in the Mediterranean.

French and British diplomats were said to be uneasy over possibility of a diplomatic clash between Soviet Russia and Italy at the non-intervention meeting expected to be called in London tomorrow.

Because of this, the British and French may attempt to restrain Russia from inflaming Italy during the debate. (Both the Communist state, which favors the government forces in Spain, and Italy, an ally of the insurgents, are represented on the non-intervention committee.)

The French and British were likely to introduce a plan for an international commission in Spain to supervise evacuation of foreign warriors from both sides of the 15-month-old conflict in Spain.

FEMININE-DOMINATED JURY FOR MRS. HAHN

Cincinnati, Oct. 14 (AP)—A feminine-dominated jury to weigh the evidence presented in the murder trial of Anna Marie Hahn appeared certain today as the male members of the venire were excused in rapid succession for numerous causes.

Only one man, a young machinist, sat with 10 women, mostly middle-aged housewives, as the examination of prospective jurors to serve in the poison slaying case swung into the third day.

The 31-year-old German immigrant is charged with administering a fatal poison to Jacob Wagner, an acquaintance.

Approximately 100 Chinese Civilians Killed and Wounded as Great Shells Drop into International Settlement Today.

U. S. MARINE HURT

American Sailor Also Injured by Shrapnel—Japanese Naval Officer Apologizes.

Shanghai, Oct. 14 (AP)—Great shells crashed into the heart of war-torn Shanghai's international settlement today, killing and wounding more than 100 Chinese civilians.

The Japanese and Chinese armies were battling with renewed fury for control of the approaches to the Orient's most important commercial city. The fighting raged overhead as Chinese planes attempted to raid the Japanese, airlined in the Yangtze area.

Some 50 miles west of Shanghai additional 75 Chinese civilians were killed when Japanese warplanes bombed a passenger train.

Alfred Hatt, of Crystal River, Florida, private in the fourth regiment of the United States Marines, was wounded in the left arm, during the Shanghai battle.

An American sailor, J. P. McMichael, of Commerce City, Ind., a radio man aboard the flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet, was slightly injured when shrapnel from Japanese shells sprayed the cruiser Augusta in the Whangpoo river.

The Japanese naval commander, Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, apologized for the incident after United States Admiral Harry Yarnell protested against needless firing by the Japanese warships.

One projectile killed 37, terminated origin exploded in the settlement near the foreign Y. M. C. A., killing and wounding 25 Chinese civilians. Forty more were killed and injured when the street car they were riding in was blown off the tracks near the barricades held by American Marines on the northern edge of the settlement.

Police reported that at least half a dozen other shells, believed to be Japanese land-aircraft shells, fell in the settlement. Ten persons were killed and wounded when one shell crashed into the Avenue road, one of Shanghai's main thoroughfares.

Other projectiles smashed through a window of the Carlotta Company, near the navy Y. M. C. A., struck the Avenue road police station, and in Tientsin road in rear of the British military headquarters.

At the North Station a furious battle was raging and the terrific cross-fire of the guns rocked the city. The populace was thrown into terror as shell settled down.

All Seek Cover
By the evening dinner hour traffic in the settlement streets had stopped. All pedestrians ducked for cover, with scores hugging doorways. Over the settlement anti-aircraft fragments and star shells looped through the air like scores of vividly twinkling stars.

Three Chinese airplanes flitted ghostlike through the moonlit clouds in a shadowy game of hide-and-seek with the fingers of piercing light from the searchlights aboard the Japanese warships.

During the day two bulls eyes scored on the Pantheon Theatre, only 250 yards from the Telephone Building, skyrocketed debris and ballooning black smoke a hundred feet high. Immediately afterwards the warships shelled the same spot and further reduced the area to dust.

Five minutes later when the scene cleared the Chinese could be seen still cowering desperately to the defenses they have held stubbornly for weeks.

The hole-pitted North Station 300 yards away was struck three times. One bomb skidded down its side, leaving an enormous, livid, yellow streak the entire six-story height.

Biggest, Deadliest Bombs
The repercussions sounding throughout the settlement indicated the Japanese were dropping the biggest and deadliest bombs yet used. They were causing the severest damage to pock-marked Chapei but the full extent of casualties and destruction was unknown.

That more of the Augusta's personnel were not injured by the Japanese shower of shrapnel was probably due to Yarnell's prompt action in ordering all hands below.

McMichael's triple-fold sailor's cap deflected the bit of shrapnel. A big bump was left on the sailor's head but he was soon up and around again.

Along the entire 25-mile front stretching northwest from the North Station the Japanese began the opening thrusts of their long-

MEET THE CANDIDATESA Series of Word Pictures of the Republican Candidates

SAMUEL H. PEYER

As chairman of the Traffic Control Committee of the Common Council, Alderman Samuel H. Peyer, the Republican candidate to succeed himself as the representative of the Eighth ward in the council, he and his committee have recently completed the new traffic code, which is intended to make safe the streets of the city. The committee of which he is chairman spent several months meeting with the chief of police, fire chief, other city officials and interested citizens in compiling the new code.

For over 15 years Alderman Peyer has held a responsible position in the Fuller shirt factory on Pine Grove avenue. He is married and resides on West Chestnut street. Alderman Peyer has lived in Kingston all his life and during the World War he served with the Navy and saw a good deal of action during the time he was in service.

Following the close of the war he was employed with the General Electric Corporation in Schenectady and to complete his education he attended night high school while in that city.

Alderman Peyer is a member of Kingston Post of the American Legion, and a past master of Hon. Lodge No. 343, F. & A. M. During the past two years as alderman he has made an intensive study of municipal affairs and there is no member of the council who is better qualified to speak on any topic relating to affairs of city government.

Alderman Peyer is a personal friend of Mayor Heiselman, and has supported the mayor in all of his major projects for lower taxes, the city's relief program and every project that was intended to better living conditions in the city.

Alderman Peyer has also served during the past two years as a member of the laws and rules committee. His election as alderman two years ago marked his first appearance in the political life of the city, and his record as a member of the council shows that he has made good. Never has the Eighth ward received other representation than it has during the past two years, and the voters of the ward will make no mistake in returning Alderman Peyer to the council by an even larger majority than that given him two years ago.

Rabbi Bloom Tells
Rotary of Theatre

Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, representing the Ulster County Theatre Association, spoke to the members and guests in attendance at Rotary in the Governor Clinton yesterday noon regarding the aims and objects of that organization. He explained that he came to the service club with nothing other to sell than an idea, an idea which would bring a cultural and moral influence to this community if properly organized and properly supported.

The Ulster County Theatre Association is a new organization and it plans to produce plays of real merit and devoid of any amateurish traits. The first play to be offered in the near future will be entitled "Give Us This Day" and it was written and will be directed by Howard Koch, a native of this city. The scenery and settings will be done by local artists and the acting assignments will also be taken by local people.

Millions of men were calling
FOR THOSE MELLOW
AMERICAN BLENDS like this

WHEN you read in the sports page that Man o' War was War Admiral's daddy, you can't escape the feeling that here's a colt it might be wise to have a bet on. Breeding counts! And just so with National's EAGLE!

You see, in the old days before the war when no one knew what a U-Boat was, there was a class of whiskies in this country, called "blends", that enjoyed amazing popularity. And deservedly so! For with consummate artistry, those old-time blenders mingled the sturdy vigor of one whiskey, the smooth delicacy of another and the mild gentility of still another, to create a new distinction of taste.

So at Repeal, National Distillers started at once on one of those fine pre-war type of American blends. But it takes aged whiskies to make fine blends, so that although we owned many of the great American brands, we have had to wait until the Summer of 1937, for some of the whiskies in this blend to reach maturity.

But when we tell you that here is one of the first of that fine, pre-war type of American blends that has been offered in a generation... made the old American way... with aged American whiskey (every drop of it distilled in this country in our own distilleries!)... by some of the very men who made so many of those great pre-war Blends... well, isn't that worth waiting for... and worth, perhaps a little bet?

ORDER a drink of National's EAGLE at the bar, club or restaurant! Or take a bottle home from your liquor store and make the acquaintance of a great American blend! A great whiskey with all the rich perfection of the fine whiskies that contributed to its blending... but milder! And a distinctive difference in taste that gives a whole new meaning to your highball.

DiMaggio with New York Jewels

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, home-run hero of the world championship New York Yankees, is including even basketball in his winter sideline activity. Giuseppe, the great today signed a contract by which he'll receive $1,000 for playing at least half of the opening game for the New York Jewels when they meet the New York Whirlwinds in their seasonal pro debut at Arcadia Hall, Brooklyn, Sunday night. "Basketball," explained Giuseppe, "is one of my favorite sports. I'm a forward."

"Jai-Alai," Ball Game, Rivals the Bull Fight

"Jai-alai," better known as "pelota" (meaning ball in Spanish), is a game somewhat similar to handball, which originated in the Basque provinces of France and Spain. In parts of Spain, it rivals bull fights in popularity, says a writer in the Detroit News. Originally "pelota" was played with hand, naked or gloved, or with a stick, but now a stout basket-work gauntlet, called a "cestus" or "chistera" is used. This basket, a Basque invention first used at Ascan, France, revolutionized the game by increasing the propelling power of the players and the carrying force of the ball.

The game may be played either indoors or outdoors and requires a cement court, 230 feet long and 65 feet wide, with at least two walls 36 feet high. Four walls may be used. There are usually four players, not among the professionals are men who have done little else since boyhood. The ball is of solid rubber, small and weighs about four ounces. During play, the ball is bounded from wall to "cestus" and must be kept in motion. The game is very popular in the Basque provinces, Spain, Cuba and South America. According to the Americana Encyclopedia, "It is claimed for this game that it requires a better eye, more speed, activity and surer control over every muscle of the body than any other sport."

Original Glass Bottles Valuable

It has been commonly acknowledged that glass bottles, shortly after their invention, were "worth their weight in gold." But an item in the American Magazine indicates that these transparent containers were valued much more highly than the yellow metal in old Egypt, where a price of $3,500,000 was set and paid on one glass bottle. Originally made only by master craftsmen and used in the packaging of rare attars and cosmetics, glassware required 40 centuries of study and refinement to reach its present superiority and incalculable value. The common foodstuff bottles on our shelves today are more perfect by far than the crude bottles of long ago—yet they cost us practically nothing!

Ancestry of Cameos in Doubt

The earliest ancestry of the cameo will always be a matter of conjecture, according to Cyril Davidson of the British Museum whose book, "Cameos," is the illuminating result of extensive study and research. But for really skilled work, we need not go further back than to the Egyptian scarabs, which were sealed with the backs cut into the semblance of the sacred beetle. The outline of the scarab cameos persisted for a long time.

St. Giles Cathedral Historic

St. Giles cathedral, standing on the line of the "Royal Mile"—that medieval street which leads from castle to palace in Edinburgh—has been the scene of many important events in the past of the Scottish capital. The walls have echoed the thunderings of John Knox, the reformer, and it was here, according to tradition, that one Jenny Geddes, in 1637, flung a stool at the Dean of Edinburgh as a protest against the introduction of Laud's Liturgy.

Big Drop in Many Stocks Wednesday

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Selective recoveries tended to give the stock market a slightly brighter appearance today. Corporate achieved some degree of popularity as world stocks of the red metal, as of September 30, were estimated at considerably under expectations. Specialties received buying attention. But steel and motors were inclined to suffer from neglect. Rails got nowhere in particular.

Volume was much lighter than in the preceding session, transfers being at the rate of about 1,500,000 shares. Gains of fractions to a point or more were well distributed near the final hour but losers were plentiful. Bonds were mixed. Rail and utility loans displayed improved tendencies. Commodities were trendless.

In favor most of the time were shares of Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, St. Joseph Lead, Phelps Dodge, American Metal, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Monsanto Chemical, Loew's, Columbian Carbon, American Radiator, Eastman Kodak, Owens-Illinois, Deere, Oliver Farm, Caterpillar Tractor, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, Wheeling Steel, National Steel, Chesapeake & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern, Douglas Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Macy, National Distillers and Continental Oil.

Narrow to down a point or more were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Western Union, National Lead, Cullen, Hammer, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Woolworth and International Harvester.

Columbus Crossed Ocean the Hard Way

COLUMBUS'S SHIP, SANTA MARIA, will cross the Atlantic in seaplanes like this one, building for Pan American Airways. Here are some figures: Gross weight, 42 1/2 tons, allowing for 50 passengers and 2 1/2 tons of freight; hull, 109 feet long; wingspread, 152 feet; top

Although the flying clippers will start off from Lisbon, which isn't so far from Columbus's hopping-off port of Huelva, they will speed straight to their marks, all along the route in contrast to the wavering course the Genoese navigator followed.

By The AP Feature Service

It took Christopher Columbus 71 nerve-trying days on his trip across the Atlantic the one on which he discovered America, October 12, 1492.

If he could have waited 445 years, until now, he could have made it in 24 hours—just 70 days difference. That's the speed which survey flights have worked out for giant flying boats follow when regular transatlantic service starts, perhaps next summer.

CHRISTOPHER'S FLAGSHIP was this plodding craft, the Santa Maria. Two similar ships conveyed this 15th century windjammer which had these approximate specifications: Weight, 120 tons; length, 86.3 feet; beam, 26.2 feet; speed, 10 miles an hour.

Pearls Cannot Be Given Life

Pearls are things which never die. They are either born still-born and dead, or living. Still-born pearls with their dull, dead look can never be revived. This doesn't mean that a pearl that looks dead is so, so, though it takes a real expert to know when looking at them just after they have been extracted from the oyster. In most cases, the upper layer, or layers, of an oyster are not at all pretty. Having been built by the oyster in successive layers of congealed fluid, each layer has its own characteristic. The expert pearl jeweler's job is to see that layers lie below those which are uppermost, and to decide what tint and what layer will give the greatest value to the pearl. And then to remove the less beautiful layers without damaging the lower, richer ones.

Old Method to Test Gold

The ancient test-stone, needles and acid method of determining the karat quality of gold never has been improved upon as a convenient test. Starting with the fact that pure gold is called 24 karats; that less than 24 karats indicates the relative amounts of gold and alloy in the metal (18 karat gold is 18-24ths gold and 6-24ths alloy); and that nitric acid dissolves alloy but not gold, it is seen readily why old methods are still in use.

Enamel Romantic Product

The ingredients from which the enameled surface of plumbing fixtures are made come from many different parts of the world. Tin oxide from the Malay States, kyanite from Greenland, barium carbonate from Germany are among the 20 elements which are combined to make the glass-like surface.

Book Presented to Library
The New York State Chiropractic Society through its local secretary, William H. Fretsch, has presented the city library with a copy of the new book, "How Ancient Healing Governs Modern Therapeutics," by K. Ligeros, M. D., Ph. D. Dr. Ligeros, a Greek physician of repute, has investigated the ancient records in the language of his forefathers and translated into English the sensational facts of the science of healing in the ancient Hellenic civilization. In the book the author makes the astounding claim and endeavors to support it by records from early documents that Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine, recognized the value of spinal adjustment in his day and practiced it. Among the many illustrations are photographs of ancient plaques and bas-reliefs showing spinal adjustments as practiced by the ancient Greeks.

Take these highly effective capsules as directed—often the pain and agony go in 48 hours—you won't be disappointed. Save this. Adv.

TWO OF TRIPLET BOYS, BORN TO MARLBOROUGHITES, DIED

Marlborough, Oct. 14.—Two of the triplet boys born to Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Lincoln were died. Two of the triplets were delivered by Dr. W. B. Harris of Marlborough on Saturday at 10:12 p. m. in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

It was not until 4:45 a. m. that the third of the premature babies was delivered. At 6 a. m. Sunday morning, about an hour after the last baby had been safely delivered, the first born died. Death came to the last born on 10:20 p. m. on Monday. The remaining child has been given a fair chance by Dr. Harris to survive, and hospital authorities reported Mrs. Lincoln's condition very good. The baby has been placed in an incubator in the hospital under special care. He was too weak to be weighed and has been placed on a special diet. The bodies were taken to Springfield, Mass., for burial in the family plot in Oak Grove Cemetery. The Lincolns have one other child, a daughter, about two years of age.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Oct. 14.—The Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association will hold the season's first meeting on Friday in Mrs. Norton's room of the school. Plans for winter activities will be organized at this meeting.

Barbara Henick celebrated her birthday last week. Emmett Edward, Woodstock artist, celebrated his birthday on Monday.

Woodstock school children enjoyed a two-day holiday on Monday and Tuesday for a teachers' conference and Columbus Day.

At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Citizens' Union held on Monday evening, the resignation of Bruno Zimm was rejected. Mr. Zimm, to free the union of any suspicion of being identified with his nomination as Democratic candidate for town supervisor, had submitted to the president, John A. Kingsbury, his resignation as secretary of the organization, as member of the board of directors and chairman of the tax and finance committee. The board of directors, meeting in the library on Monday, refused to accept the resignation, since they preferred not to establish a precedent against including people in their organization who are in, or running for public office. On the same evening plans were made for a town meeting to take place before the November election. The meeting, although sponsored by the union, will be a public occasion. Both candidates for supervisor are expected to speak, as well as candidates of both parties for other town offices. The union has issued its first bulletin, which will be sent to all registered voters, giving the records of all candidates and other data of interest to voters in the coming election.

Even the Eggs Are Big This Year

First place so far in the big egg championship contest for 1937 goes to Miss Elizabeth V. Hill of Flatbush. Miss Hill on Wednesday brought to The Freeman office an egg laid by one of her Rhode Island pullets that looks more like a small football than it does an egg.

The prize egg measures over nine inches the long way, is seven inches around and weighs seven ounces.

Just how good Miss Hill's pullets are may be judged from the fact that it would only take three of these eggs to make a dozen by weight of standard pullets' eggs, which weigh from 18 to 20 ounces a dozen.

Glider Take-Off in The Rhoe Hills

Darmstadt, Germany (UPI)—Germany is proud of her Frauchlin "Fliegerkapitän" (flier captain) Hanna Reitsch, outstanding glider flier and one of few women active in the sport.

She recently established a record for long distance flights by women by gliding from the Rhoe hills to Hamburg, a distance of 218 miles. This achievement has been recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

The 24-year-old flier has been almost the lone woman entry in European glider competitions and nearly always has won honors. She has toured South America, Africa and Asia.

For her accomplishments in aeronautical research, Air Minister Hermann Goering recently conferred on her the title of "Fliegerkapitän". She was the first woman to receive such a decoration.

She is employed as trial pilot by the German aeronautical research institute at Darmstadt.

CONCRETE PAVEMENTS

SAVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN TAXES

CONCRETE roads are reducing the cost of highway upkeep by millions of dollars every year. Here are two typical examples, taken from official highway department reports, showing costs per mile per year for surface maintenance of various types of pavement:

ILLINOIS—1921-1935
CONCRETE	$ 80.64
Material A	171.99
Material B	185.92
Material C	209.53
Material D	326.30
Material E	337.67

NEW YORK—1923-1935
CONCRETE	$151.74
Material F	352.75
Material G	361.02
Material C	551.88
Material H	656.52
Material E	728.57
Material B	757.00

Official reports from all states which publish comparable data show that surface maintenance averages $88 to $465 less per mile per year for concrete than for other pavements.

Concrete saves other millions annually for motorists and business men in the cost of operating cars and trucks.

And safe, comfortable concrete actually costs less in the first place than other pavements of equal load carrying capacity.

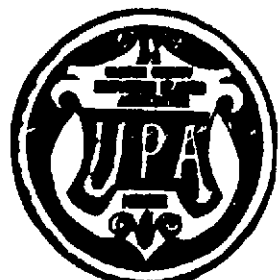

Write for folder, "Road Surface Maintenance Costs."

It Is Charlotte Amalie; Solve Virgin Isle Puzzle

Washington.—The board on geographical names, after a 20-year search through hundreds of dictionaries, geographies, postal guides and encyclopedias, has found the correct spelling of the capital of the Virgin Islands. It is Charlotte Amalie—pronounced Charlotte A-may-lee.

King Christian V of Denmark named the little Caribbean port in 1673 in honor of his consort, Charlotte Amalie—or was it Amalia? For almost three centuries the "a" and "e" endings were subjects of worldwide dispute.

When the United States purchased the islands from Denmark in 1917, the board found it didn't know how to spell the last name of the red-roofed little town between the mountains and the sea, much less pronounce it.

For four years the board searched Danish records and interviewed Danish sailors. Some spelled it Amalie, some Amalia. Some pronounced it Ama-lee, some Ama-lic.

Finally, in disgust, the board said, "Oh, let's call it St. Thomas." But the natives kept right on calling it Charlotte Amalie. Last year the Colonial council passed an ordinance reviving the name Charlotte Amalie.

Gov. Lawrence W. Cramer signed it and sent it along to the board. The board, in approving the change, announced it suddenly had discovered the correct spelling and pronunciation.

Tarzan Is U. S. Flag in 'Boner': Tarzan Stripes

London.—The board of education reports these among answers eleven-year-olds at a Scottish school gave to a general-knowledge examination:

Matrimony is a place where souls suffer for a time on account of their sin.

A crisis is a thing which hangs up in the winter and comes down the summer as a butterfly.

Tarzan is a short name for the American flag. Its full name is Tarzan stripes.

A republic is a country where no one can do anything in private.

The bone is a bundle of bones that run up and down the back and holds the ribs together. The skull sits on one end and I sit on the other.

An active verb shows action, as he kissed her, and a passive verb shows passion, as she kissed him. Amen means "that's the lot."

Planes Carry Bugs to Fight Crop Pests

Chicago.—Bugs are getting free airplane rides now. Not just ordinary bugs, but "soldier bugs," known to the scientific world as Trichogramma. Thousands of them are flying the airlines in big transport ships each week in a war against crop destroying insects.

The "soldier bugs" are egg parasites which attack the eggs of other insects, particularly those of moths which appear on fruit trees, sugar cane and cotton, and exterminate them before they reach the harmful maturity stage.

Brady Gangster Shot. Taken to Bangor Jail

James Dalhove, member of the Al Brady gang, who was wounded in a gun battle during which his leader and another henchman met death, is shown being taken to jail in Bangor, Me., after the sensational gun fight with G-men which was witnessed by hundreds of Bangor citizens in the city's main street.

"Who Wrote Shakespeare?" an Ancient Controversy

The controversy over the authorship of Shakespeare's works had its origin many years ago and appears from time to time. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, cites a writer in the Detroit News, the idea that the plays and poems ascribed to Shakespeare were really the work of Lord Bacon appears to have been first presented by Herbert Lawrence in his work, "The Life and Adventures of Common Sense" (1769). The thesis appeared again in 1848 in J. C. Hart's "The Romance of Yachting," and in the article, "Who Wrote Shakespeare?" printed in Chambers' Journal (August 5, 1852). The first definite claim for Bacon's authorship was set forth in a letter by William Henry Smith, which was printed in extended form in 1857, under the title, "Bacon and Shakespeare." The earls of Rutland, Derby and Oxford have also been declared the real authors, at various times, and Bacon's claim has been extended to include the works of practically all the Elizabethan dramatists. In the United States, Judge Nathaniel Holmes wrote the book, "The Authorship of Shakespeare," and the controversy was continued by I. Donnelly's "The Great Cryptogram," which was based on the theorem that Bacon had embedded in the plays a cipher narrative declaring his authorship.

The various writers based their claims more or less on the following points: 1. It was assumed that Shakespeare did not have the educational or cultural background to write drama, while Bacon did. 2. Similar phraseology in the works of both Bacon and Shakespeare tended to show both to be the work of the same man, but investigation showed that such phraseology was common to all Elizabethan drama. None of the investigators have been able to prove that Bacon or any of the other suggested claimants ever wrote a line of blank verse.

White Sox—City Champs

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP).—It took them longer than usual to prove it, but the White Sox of the American League, are still Chicago's city baseball champions, and $549.54 apiece wealthier. The Sox, who devoted a total of eight games to conquering the National League in 1933 and 1936, had to go back to 1931 for precedent this time, but cleaned up the problem yesterday by winning the seventh game, 6 to 1, behind the sparkling hurling of John Whitehead. Thus, the White Sox made it four city series in a row, as well as their 15th triumph, against six Cub victories and one tie.

Organ Program Given By Musical Society

A generous audience gathered at the Fair Street Reformed Church last evening for the fourth recital of organ music presented by the Musical Society of Kingston. The guests were welcomed by Miss Eva Clinton, president of the society.

An organ and piano number in syncopated rhythm, "Festival Overture in D" by Crasse, played by Lella R. Decker, organist and Elizabeth M. Le Fever, pianist, opened the well balanced and pleasing program. After this majestic opening number came the ever lovely "Liebestraum" by Liszt, a favorite with all music lovers and especially so when played on the organ. This was played by Lucinda Merritt.

The first vocal soloist of the evening was Jeannette K. Mills, contralto, who sang "O Rest in the Lord" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Mrs. Mills seemed in unusually good voice and sang with feeling. Especially creditable were her breath control and diction. She was accompanied at the organ by Miss Merritt.

Again the organ was the solo instrument with Edna Rignall at the console playing two numbers from the Suite, "Mountain Sketches" by Chopin. The first, "Wind in the Pine Trees" was a tone poem in which some of the more delicate and unusual stop combinations were used. In contrast was "Canyon Walks." This group, the opening organ and piano number and the Bach-Gounod number were the most favored by the audience.

Jessie Cowley Wolfersteig, who needs no introduction to Kingston audiences sang the Bach-Gounod arrangement of the "Ave Maria." She was accompanied by Edna R. Rignall at the organ, Lella R. Decker at the piano and Eva Clinton playing the violin obligato. Mrs. Wolfersteig's voice is always lovely when she isn't in her best voice.

The last organ solo was played by Ella O. Ellings who played a group of two numbers, the first, Rachmaninoff's "Melodie in E" and the second, "Au Coeur," by Borodin, the latter number making use of the chimel.

Handel was represented on the program by Isaac K. Dunbar who sang the aria, "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion" from "The Messiah," which, as do most of Handel's works, called for a finesse of technique.

Due to the illness of Florence W. Cubberley, violinist, who was to have played "Meditation" by Moutser, with organ and piano accompaniment by Lucinda Merritt and Lella R. Decker, Mrs. Decker and Miss Merritt played the number with the organ substituting for the violin. This brought to a close a delightful evening of music.

She wore peach chiffon over peach satin, a halo of roses and also carried chrysanthemums. Alfred Lasher, brother of the bride, was best man.

Before the ceremony Milton Shiebel sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me." After the ceremony a reception for members of the immediate families was held at the bride's home. KNOWING HOW TO TELL FORTUNES BRINGS MORE GOOD TIMES TO YOU

Fun and Easy to Read Tea Leaves

The crowd can't get enough of Judy's fortunes. You can see why when you listen to the story she finds in Dick's teacup. "You're going to propose soon," Judy says solemnly as she sees leaves grouped like a cage near the rim of the cup. And as she notices Tildan-haird Kay's adoring eyes on Dick, she adds mysteriously, "There's a hint she may be a redhead!"

Do you have to be a seventh daughter of a seventh daughter to read fortunes like that? You can do it easily. Begin by reading your own fortune. Drink a cup of tea dry, turn the cup around three times clockwise and make a wish. Then turn the cup upside down, then right side up.

If leaves near the rim form a little triangle, with the apex up, you'll get your wish and good luck, too. Leaves shaped like an arrow say news is coming. A tree promises health; a basket, gifts. A star speaks of love; a snake warns of an enemy.

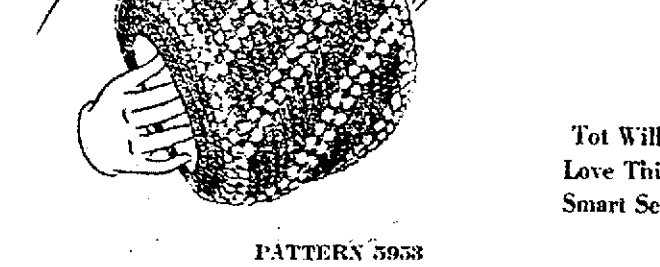

Card fortunes are fun, too. Flout out what you should say to that proposal. Draw five cards from the deck with your left hand. If you get a red jack or king, accept; a black jack, say "NO!"

Here's a fortune game, invisible Messages, that's fun to do at a party. Have guests draw slips of paper from a hat. The slips should be blank but over a lighted candle reveal mystic messages about money, love and luck. You've written the messages beforehand in lemon juice, you see.

In our 40-page booklet, LET ME TELL YOUR FORTUNE, are many more exciting ways to tell fortunes—with cards, tea leaves, handwriting, dreams. Fun and easy to remember.

Send 15c for our booklet, LET ME TELL YOUR FORTUNE, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS AND NAME of booklet.

Even A Beginner Can Make These

Here's a chance to please everybody—the delighted youngster who gets his set and yourself who makes it! You'll want to crochet a set for all eligible young misses, the pieces work up so well. Double crochet and popcorns—the latter in white or a contrasting color—are the "making" of it. Use 4-fold Germantown—it works up just right and makes a set as warm as toast—a set that's the last word as a Xmas gift. In pattern 9553 you will find instructions for making the set shown; illustrations of it and of all stitches used; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 252 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Static Electricity Is the Oldest Kind Known

Static is the oldest kind of electricity known, notes a writer in the New York Times. Our word "electricity" comes from the Greek "electron," meaning amber. Rub amber, as the Greeks did, and it becomes electrically charged. Then touch it and the charge is drawn off in a little spark. So with dry fur, glass, resin, wax, scores of materials.

Two positively electrified or two negatively electrified bodies repel each other. But positives and negatives attract. Franklin gave us this distinction between positive and negative.

Static electricity is like water on a rubber ball in that it clings to the surface. Just as a rubber ball can gather only so much water, so a ball of glass or resin can collect only so much static electricity. If more electricity accumulates than the surface can hold, there is what the physicists call a brush discharge, meaning a leaking away into the air. If the excess is great, the leaking may manifest itself in a visible glow.

Until Volta in 1800 invented the cell which we use in our batteries the only kind of electricity that science knew was static. Out of Volta's cell came not just one burst of electricity but a steady stream. After that science began to talk of dynamic or continuously flowing electricity. When at last the electric generator followed Faraday's discovery of induction it was naturally called a dynamo—short for "dynamic electric machine."

Connelly school has re-opened after a vacation of Monday and Tuesday.

School tax will be received by Collector Pardee at five per cent from October 13 to November 13. Mrs. Anderson and daughter, Antoinette, have returned home from New York city, where they had gone for medical treatment.

"Fine baking calls for quick-dissolving Jack Frost."

ORANGE NUT BREAD

(Makes 1 loaf)

1/2 cup finely cut orange peel
1/2 cup Jack Frost Granulated Sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1/2 cup water
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

1. Cover orange peel with water. Boil 5 minutes. Drain. Add sugar and water and cook 10 minutes longer.

2. Sift flour. Measure. Sift again with baking powder, salt and Jack Frost Granulated Sugar. Jack Frost is so fine-grained and quick-dissolving it blends easily with other ingredients and gives baked things a finer, closer texture.

3. Stir in nuts. Add orange peel and combine thoroughly.

4. Beat egg well. Add milk and melted shortening (soiled). Mix well.

5. Slowly add liquid ingredients to flour mixture, stirring just enough to blend ingredients.

6. Pour into greased loaf pan (5 1/2 x 9 1/2 inches) and let stand 20 minutes.

7. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 1 hour 15 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan to cool. Keep over night before slicing.

Affirms Judgment Rendered in Favor Of Schilling Co.

The Appellate Division at Albany has handed down a decision affirming the judgment rendered in favor of the F. J. Schilling Furniture Company and against Jelico Realty, Inc.

This action was tried in Ulster County Court at the April trial term before County Judge Frederick G. Traver. It was brought by the Jelico Realty, Inc., as landlord to recover rent claimed to be owing from F. J. Schilling Furniture Company, Inc. The indebtedness for rent by the furniture company was not denied, and it interposed a counter claim seeking to recover damages to furniture and lumber resulting from a leaking condition of the roof over the premises occupied by the F. J. Schilling Furniture Company, Inc., which was a part of the former Lorillard plant.

It was claimed by the defendant that the landlord neglected to properly maintain and repair the roof. It was conceded that when leaks did occur the landlord made efforts to repair the same.

The landlord contended that such efforts were sufficient compliance with the provisions of the lease requiring it to keep the roof in proper condition. The tenant, however, asserted that mere ineffectual repairs did not absolve the landlord from any liability, but that if the roof was in such condition that to repair it was sufficient, under the lease, the landlord would be required to construct a new roof.

This latter contention appears to have been upheld by the Appellate Division, which by a unanimous court affirms the judgment in favor of the Schilling Company in the amount of $157. Arthur B. Ewig of Cash & Ewig, attorneys for the defendant, argued the appeal in the Appellate Division, and Judge Joseph M. Fowler of Fowler & Connolly, attorneys for the plaintiff, represented the landlord.

Recent Awarding Of Contracts to Outside Parties

All was quiet on the Ellenville front this morning according to reports from the sheriff's office, Sheriff Molyneux having two deputies located there in case the situation gets out of hand.

Representatives of local labor groups are said to be picketing the meat market of Abraham Miller on Center street and the property on lower Warren street which is being remodeled for use by the New York Water Board of Water Supply.

Resentment over the fact that contracts for plumbing, heating and other work have been let to outside parties, is said to be back of the agitation.

The only development in the situation yesterday was the appearance in Justice Melvin D. Schoonmaker's court of Conrad Robinson of Kingston and Sol Steinhoff of Ellenville. It is understood that each wanted the other arrested, but Justice Schoonmaker on learning that the basis of the charges was a verbal altercation between the two men, refused to take any action in the case.

Robinson is president of the Ulster Fuel Oil Heat & Power Corp. of Kingston, which has the contract for an oil burner installation and Steinhoff is in the plumbing business in Ellenville.

It is stated that all the contracts for work on the Board of Water Supply office building have been let to out of town concerns. The building is owned by Dr. John Weiss, Mrs. Weiss and Mrs. Lillian Schiff.

R. R. Crossings Being Rebuilt

Some time ago the New York Central railroad rebuilt the Flatbush avenue crossing, removing the old planks and using paving material to make the crossing flush with the street. So successful was the job that Mayor C. J. Helselmann immediately took the matter up with the railroad authorities urging them to rebuild the Smith avenue and Ten Broeck avenue crossings of the Catskill Mountain Branch in the same manner.

For some time the mayor has been corresponding with the railroad officials and finally the work of rebuilding the two crossings has been started. The old planks will be taken up and pavement laid between and alongside the tracks, making the crossing flush with the street pavement.

When the work is completed it will be a decided improvement.

NETTIE MAE BUTLER IS GRANTED SEPARATION.

Nettie Mae Butler has been granted a separation from her husband, Raymond T. Butler, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The order is by Justice Harry E. Schirck.

Mrs. Butler, through her attorney, Francis T. Murray, told the court that she married September 10, 1932, at Kingston and that from about July, 1934, the defendant had treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner. She told the court that her husband had been drinking to excess and frequently came home in an intoxicated condition at early hours of the morning and abused her. This happened on an average of about three times a month.

In July of this year, she told the court her husband had come home intoxicated and had threatened to commit suicide by means of a butcher knife. When she attempted to prevent him so doing she said he had thrown the knife at her, narrowly missing her.

The defendant was represented in court by Peter H. Harp, but put up no defense. The order of separation has been filed.

Japan still says to China, in the words of the old melodrama villain, "Why do you shrink from me, Nellie?"

Recent Activities
At St. Ursula's

On Tuesday afternoon the girls of St. Ursula Academy, Marygrove, welcomed a large bus from New York bearing a merry group of students from their sister school, the Academy of Our Lady of Lourdes. After luncheon and an enthusiastic tour of the grounds, now beautiful in their fall coloring, a vigorous game of basketball between hostesses and guests made the court echo and re-echo with joyous cheering. The game was hotly contested and victory accompanied the New York banners home.

When pictures had been snapped as souvenirs of the day, a veiner roast, that comfort of basketball appetites, met with the hearty approval of all. Dancing in the auditorium found its way into an afternoon of crowded events until the happy farewells to Mothers and pupils finally saw the New York students again en route for home with gay and grateful hearts. It had been a delightful day. Uppermost now in the minds of all is the hope of an early acceptance of the challenge to Marygrove for a return game.

On Monday morning a program was presented in the school auditorium with the theme "Columbus Day" carried out in all the numbers here.

Those taking part, with their contributions, were: Phyllis Craft, "The Great Voyage;" Helen Powers, "What's in a Name?" Marie Thomas, "A Dream That Came True;" Katherine Keating, "The Result of a Quest;" Rita Ferraro, "A Tribute to Columbus;" Margaret Lewis, "Where There's a Will, There's a Way;" Mary Ryan's paper, "The First Father of Our Country," was read in Miss Ryan's absence by Dorothy Diamond.

There was no school on Columbus Day.

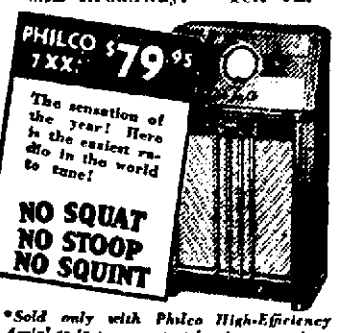

58 Italians Killed
Rome, Oct. 14 (AP).—Forty-one Italian officers and 17 soldiers have been killed in attacks by "Ethiopian bandits," an official announcement said today. The announcement was the Fascist government's reply to repeated rumors of Ethiopian massacres. It did not mention the number of native troops killed, but informed sources believed it may have been large.

The Pessimistic Pest
Oh, the times are out of joint, and they never will be right till the pessimistic growler evaporates from sight. For all depression mongers of all persons we detest. There is no one that breeds trouble like the pessimistic pest.

Oh, the pessimistic pest. With his tale of woe and woe, he waits for you in ambush. And pursues wherever you go. But he always proves a coward. When you put him to the test, he is just a common scold.

Oh, the times will be much better. When you fill your rightful part. And you do the work before you. With a brave and cheerful heart. So through days of storm or sunshine strive to do your level best. And ignore the blatant bleatings of the pessimistic pest.

They were trying an Irishman, charged with a petty offense in Oklahoma town, when the judge asked: "Have you anyone in court who will vouch for your good character?"

"Vis your honor," quickly responded the Celt, "there's the sheriff there."

Whereupon the sheriff eyed signs of great amazement. "Why, your honor," declared he, "I don't even know the man."

"Observe that I've lived in the country for over twelve years and the sheriff doesn't even know me!" Ah! that character for you!

Counsel (in divorce case)—Is it true your husband led a dog's life with you?

Wife—He did. He came in with muddy shoes, leaving footprints all over the carpet. He took the best place near the fire and waited to be fed. He growled at the least provocation and snapped at me a dozen times a day.

The babe of yesterday had a tough enough time of it being bounced up and down on the lady caller's knee, but at least it didn't run the risk of being burned by her cigarette.

Always beware of the man who says he has several irons in the fire. You might get burned by one of them.

He—Do you remember the first kiss, darling?

She—Yes, and I was trying only yesterday to remember who the fellow was.

Jerry—You can hear a pin drop where I work.

Oscar—Where do you work?

Jerry—in a bowling alley.

Mountain Lady—That's John, my husband's brother, and the fellow talkin' to him is my sister's husband, and that one over there is my brother's wife, and she's talking to the wife of my oldest son.

Traveler—But who is the old lady over in the corner?

Mountain Lady—She ain't any kin to me. She stopped in here 30 years ago to get a drink of water, and she's bin with us ever since, but I'm soon 'll be goin' to tell her I'm gettin' tired of it.

It has been said of Columbus that when he started out, he didn't know where he was going; when he got there, he didn't know where he was, and when he came back, he didn't know where he had been.

The mounting cost of everything, by the way, is just what you voted for. It is largely the result of taxes being passed on to the public.

A girl has announced that she is ready to sail the sea of matrimony with a certain young man as soon as he has made a raft of money.

Broadway. "Big City". Two of the screen's finest artists work to no special purpose in the Broadway offering and their talents are pretty much wasted in a story that possesses neither inspiration nor situation that might be classed as worthy of the dramatic skill of two really brilliant players. As it is, Spencer Tracy and Lulu Rainer follow a routine path through all the hardships of a poor young couple in love in New York city with its tragedies, its pitfalls, its traumas, and its little moments of brightness. A capable supporting cast includes Charles Grapewin, Victor Varconi, Eddie Quillan and Janet Beecher. Frank Borzage directed.

Kingsford. "Wine Women and Horses". "Think Fast Mr. Moto". Another story of the race tracks comes to the uptown theatre with Barton MacLane and Ann Sheridan co-starring in a tale that tells of a man who had remarkable luck with the horses but no luck with the ladies. "Think Fast Mr. Moto" is an exciting and enjoyable mystery drama with Peter Lorre in the starring role.

Orpheum. "Swing High, Swing Low". The handsome romantic team of Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray were never better than in this musical comedy offering that possesses grand music, clever dialogue, humorous situations and plenty of excitement. It is first class entertainment and it packs a musical punch seldom heard on the screen.

Tomorrow

Broadway. Same.

Kingsford. "Make A Wish". Another juvenile sensation; parades his talents before the screen microphones in this story of a little boy who sings his way into the hearts of some pretty tough people. Little Bobby Breen, whose high pitched voice is both unusual and arresting is the star of the performance and he is supported by Basil Rathbone, Henry Armetta, Marion Claire, Ralph Forbes, Leon Errol and Donald Meek. The songs in this one are more enjoyable than the ones in Mr. Breen's last effort and by and large, the show will appeal to music lovers everywhere.

Orpheum. "Land Beyond the Law" and "Holy Terror". The singing Dick Foran runs into desperate danger and love in the first of the Orpheum offerings and the play is exciting and filled with roaring action all the way except for the few times Mr. Foran takes time out to sing or to act.

"Holy Terror" is the other attraction, a comedy plot with Little Jane Withers at her devastating best.

HOLLYWOOD—The call sheet—that daily studio bulletin which tells actors where they're to work at what time—is often a fascinating document.

The other day Warner's had one posted which still intrigues me.

From 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. it called for scenes on eight sets, to wit: interior judge's chambers, interior courtroom, interior police station, exterior Pinky's home, exterior Cheap street, interior Pinky's home, exterior street near Pinky's home, and exterior Pinky's home.

Tyrone Is Grateful

It seems there's a character named Pinky, and there is—Boni to Granville. The picture, after all this, seems appropriately titled: "Too Much of Everything." But what I really can't forget is that, on the first set, Mr. Briggs, Mr. Everton, and "part of Mr. Morgan" were required. Poor Mr. Morgan! Sometimes, though, I like to think of it. Part of Mr. Morgan lolling the morning away, and part of Mr. Morgan out slaving for Jack Warner. The actor's millennium if ever there was one!

On the set of "Second Honeymoon," Tyrone Power, between scenes, was studying a page from a London newspaper recounting the arrival of Robert Taylor. "Poor guy," he breathed, reading off such headlines as "Women Shriek! Give Us Our Darling Bob!" "Poor guy," he groaned.

And I think Tyrone was never more grateful that his studio provided him with a "public relations contact man" when he braved the eastern winds of fortune. It was a little item that usually cautions Metro neglected in Taylor's case...

Handy Southern Accent

On the same set, and working, was Marjorie Weaver, Tennessee's bright brunette—working very hard because the picture is her first real opportunity in films. After a year of study to lose her southern accent, Marjorie gets her big chance in the role of a little southern girl. She was nervous, but good. She delivered her long string of speeches, with pauses and gestures, in a way to bring braves from the onlookers.

Immediately she set out to look for her new stand-in, Judy Parks. Judy was Marjorie's friend and room-mate at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house at Indiana U.

This isn't really the age of miracles, but producers want high prices without inflation and consumers want low prices without deflation.

Entertainments by Ray Anderson and musical and vocal numbers by Chuck Kelse and his group. Henry Milling, Jr., who has successfully been showing moving pictures in the city parks this summer, will show Charlie Chaplin in "The Immigrant" and Chaplin in "Our Gang" featuring side-splitting "Follow the Leader." The members of the class are working hard to make the entertainment a big success and a large attendance is expected.

Frost Kills; Ice Forms in Kingston

For the first of the season ice formed in Kingston during the night and a heavy white frost killed flowers in the city's gardens. Temperatures as low as 28 degrees were recorded in the city. The official city thermometer recorded a low of 30 degrees at the city hall. Other sections of the city reported at least two degrees lower. Skim ice formed and when residents awoke this morning it was to find the ground covered with a white frost and the flowers in the gardens had turned black.

ALL COMFORTS BUILT INTO $300,000 AIR YACHT

Seattle, Oct. 14 (AP)—Now you can fly with all the comforts of home.

Even a shower bath, with hot and cold running water, and a refrigerator are being built into a $300,000 flying yacht ordered here for Capt. George Whittell, San Francisco Peninsula millionaire.

A dining room and lounge, bedrooms for four guests, a master suite, hot and cold running water and a radio are also in the plans.

No plane like it in the air, a Boeing Aircraft Co. spokesman said today.

The Rev. J. J. Stanley Is Monsignor

THE REV. JOHN J. STANLEY

The Rev. John J. Stanley, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, has been honored by Pope Pius XI with the dignity of Papal Chamberlain, carrying with it the title of Monsignor. Although the honor was conferred on September 23, it was not officially granted by Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York until today. Plans for the investiture to the office have not been announced, but will be in the near future.

Two former priests of St. Mary's parish received the title with Dean Stanley, the Rev. John J. Hickey, who served as pastor, and as dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, and the Rev. Stephen P. Connolly, who was an assistant under Father Hickey and later became pastor of St. Peter's Church, Poughkeepsie, and dean of Dutchess county.

Monsignor Stanley is the first clergyman in Ulster county to be elevated to his new rank since the time of Monsignor Burtell. His promotion in the ranks of the Catholic Church takes on added significance due to his being a native son of Ulster.

Born in Port Ewen

Born in Port Ewen, Monsignor Stanley went to New York to pursue his studies for the clergy. He was graduated from St. Francis Xavier College and completed his theological training at St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie.

His first assignment after ordination was at the New York Catholic Protectorate. From there he went to Our Lady of Solace in the Bronx for 15 years, under the Rev. Daniel J. Curley, who became the Bishop of Syracuse.

From the Bronx, Father Stanley went to the Church of St. John and St. Mary at Chappaqua, serving there as pastor for five years. On September 21, 1932, he came to St. Mary's parish in Kingston when the very Rev. Joseph B. Scully went to Holy Trinity pastorate in New York city. The title of dean was conferred upon Father Stanley immediately.

Monsignor Stanley is one of the most beloved clergymen ever to serve as pastor of St. Mary's and his parishioners will accept the news of his most recent honor with as much pride as the priests who have served with him on his various missions since his ordination on May 21, 1910.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITOR'S WORDS BOUNCED BACK

Kenmore, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP).—Young Clyde Fiddler, outspoken high school editor, walked with wary step among his classmates today as authorities quietly investigated a report he had taken a beating for his editorial opinions.

Clyde told newspapermen yesterday he had been knocked unconscious in a school corridor after the first edition of his independent paper, "The Kenmore Trumpet," went into circulation.

In the four pages of his periodical, Clyde called fraternity members a "snobbish, egotistical group of youngsters with too much money."

"The football team, he wrote, had 'kicked away the last two football games.'"

Two types of minelayers were developed by the Germans, the short range and the distant minelayer.

Sense of Smell—Enough

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The sense of smell, Federal Court Judge Frank Cooper has decided, can be used as evidence in obtaining a search warrant.

Cooper, in restoring to force a search warrant previously quashed by United States Commissioner William Arthur, said: "When an odor of fermenting mash is smelled by agents, it is coming from a building for which no permission for use as a distillery has been granted. It is sufficient evidence to justify issuance of a search warrant."

A KING LOOKS AT WAR out across the sham battlefields of Bulgaria. King Boris watched from an observation trench while his armies staged the first combined military exercises to be held in that country since 1913, the year before the outbreak of the World War. Accompanying the monarch was his brother, Prince Cyril, at maneuvers celebrating Bulgaria's Independence Day.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW COAT OF ARMOR, a new plan of fleet organization under which destroyers are attached to the battle force was tested by the U. S. Navy in four days of maneuvers off the Pacific coast. Framed by the guns of the flagship U. S. S. California, and one of its fleet of planes, warships speed by during the battle drill. Shown in the immediate foreground is the U. S. S. West Virginia.

While Fascist speakers in Italy and Germany may talk with little fear for their personal safety, in England it is another story. When Sir Oswald Mosley recently tried to address a crowd of 8,000, including many Communists, he was felled with a stone, dangerously hurt.

In the darkness which today seems to surround world peace, Helen Keller, blind since she was a baby, sees light in the dawn of a real peace. Recovering from an operation, Miss Keller, who returned from Japan in August, expressed her belief that "we are living through the darkest hour now."

TO CIVILIAN LIFE will go Major Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former U. S. chief of staff, present adviser to the Philippine army, who plans to retire soon because he feels this action will accelerate the promotion of junior officers.

TROY'S GREATEST WARHORSE in many years in the opinion of experts is Ambrose Schindler, triple threat quarterback of U. S. C. Responsible in large measure for Southern California's victory over Ohio State, he will meet his greatest test against mighty California on October 23.

HE MAY NOT CHOOSE TO RUN for the honor of gracing the presidential Thanksgiving table, but this fat turkey, held by Miss Inez Dyer of Lancaster, Calif., will probably be a competitor in the contest between birds of 14 western states to be staged in Salt Lake City.

EYE TROUBLE seemed to be bothering Robert Taylor, Hollywood actor, as he appeared in London wearing "cheaters." He injured his right eye.

Back to the stage will go Mrs. Jack Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams, who has not stepped out before floodlights since she sang "Cheerful Little Earful." Her current vehicle will be a musical comedy entitled, "Hooray for What!" Her last appearance was before marriage.

Warning the democracy to die in America "in our generation," Dr. Glenn F. recently denounced the nation's bankers, concentrated power in Washington. "Men who rob the robot of liberalism more and more to seek to class against class," he said.

THEY ASK PENNIES FOR DEATH, chanting "Every penny kills a Japanese," Chinese children marched through the twisted streets of New York's Chinatown, collecting funds for defense of their fatherland. Here is the parade along famed Mott street. Sponsored by the Chinese Women's Patriotic League, it was made up of Chinese Boy and Girl Scouts. Under the direction of Mme. Lou Fon-su, unofficially known as the angel of Chinatown, the league has raised nearly $12,000 for refugees in their ancestral home where numerous Chinatown men are already fighting.

MAN EATS SHARK like man bites dog is news. Here is S. B. Tunis about to gulp a generous portion of shark's fins at a Chicago food exhibition.

HE BOBBED UP FROM NOWHERE to lead Cornell's Big Red eleven back to its former place in the football sun. Although last year 19-year-old Malvern "Whit" Baker was considered not good enough for the freshman team, this year he has proved his right to a place among the country's greatest backs, received Coach Carl Snavely's praise as one of the game's swiftest quarterbacks. On October 23 he leads the powerful Ithacans against Yale.

Frank Morgenweck and Carlisle Husta, visiting in Egg Harbor, home of both basketball luminaries, will be back in Kingston, Saturday to start practice for the Colonials at 3 o'clock in the Municipal Auditorium.

"We'll be a bit late this year in making ready for the first game, but as it's only an exhibition there will be plenty of time to tune up the boys for the American League opening on Wednesday, November 3, against the Jersey Reds," said Morgie.

There will be approximately 15 courtsters at the auditorium to take part in the first drill. Morgenweck has a nucleus for his club in Carl Husta, Tiny Hearn, Corky Stanton, Jimmy Brown and Phil Reelin, last year's veterans. Youngsters on hand to try out will be Chet Husta, nephew of Carl, Eddie Mayo, Chic Halpern, Moe Doublier, Sammy Stein, Leo Mereson, all of whom had experience competing against American League teams.

Morgie is after Allie Shuckman, former New York Jewel toser, who has been promised to him by Eddie Wilde.

"Wilde said he'd give me Shuckman," said Morgie, "and I think Allie would like to join the Colonial lineup."

A Real Test
Honey Russell's Hakoahs will be the first club to test the pre-season strength of the Colonials, Wednesday night, October 20. This band is composed of real class players—Ken Norton and Murray Halliwell, formerly of the Long Island Blackbirds; Milt Trupin, lately of Kate Smith's Celts; Sammy Kaplan of the Whirlwinds last year; Manny Citrin, who played with the Jewels, and Russell himself, one of the mainstays of every club on which he has played for the past 15 or more years.

The second exhibition for the Colonials will be against the colored Renaissance, the team that always packs the auditorium with fans, and presses the Kingstonians to the limit.

No Pushovers
"I'm not picking any pushovers for the Colonials in their tune-ups," informed Morgie, "because I really want to see what I have for our American League race this season. I'm out for the championship, and I'm out strong. Kingston is going to have the best club ever to represent it in the league, as far as I'm concerned, and I hope everything works out the way I have it planned."

In the preliminary for the 20th, Battery A will play the West Point Quartermasters' quintet, one of the best service teams at the military post.

Molans Want Games
Manager Barney O'Neill of the Molans basketball team has announced that he's ready to schedule games for the coming season. His address is 86 West Pierpont street.

Carsons Win at Albany

Here are two of the entries and prize winners from the stables of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carson, Richmond Park, in the recent horse show held in Albany.

Above is Star Chief, winner of two second prizes, one in the novice class for five gated horses, and the other in the single harness class.

Below is Jessemine, Kentucky mare, which won three blue ribbons, taking first prize in the combination five gated class, and the stake championship class.

Mr. Carson, shown mounted on his prize winners, is especially proud of Jessemine. This mare has won more than 30 ribbons in competition.

Birdseye View Of Sports Events

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—If Marshall Goldberg's popper doesn't turn up for Pitt vs. Fordham, here's why: The old gent got frisky, spotted 21 points on Pitt, and dropped 40 smackers to a West Virginia supporter. Now he's in the doghouse and how!

Calling all printers: Come on out, boys—Mile Jadwiga Jerzycki (help, help)—owoska, the Polish tennis star, sailed for home last night. There are three sets of brothers on the Rollins College football squad. Joe McCarthy is tickled pink over his new contract, and why not? He'll get $105,000, a comfortable fortune, for managing the Yanks for the next three years.

This week's feedbox special: Indians to trim Illinois. The Hoosiers haven't done it since 1903 and the almanac says Saturday is the day. Take it or leave it.

Tommy Henrich, Yank outfield recruit, made more dough last season than any other rookie ever cleaned up in his first year. The Yanks paid Tommy $26,000 for signing a contract. He drew down $6,500 in salary and topped that off with about $6,000 in world series gravy. For five months' work, that ain't exactly hay, now is it? Frankie Carideo, Mississippi State backfield coach, refused to ride on planes on scouting trips. Hasn't been off the ground since Knute Rockne (then Frankie's coach) lost his life in an air crash some years ago.

Major League clubs eyeline Gabby Hartnett can forget about it. Gabby will be the next manager of the Cubs. They may make Cholly Grimm a vice president or something and slip Gabby in next season.

Championship of the Southeastern Conference will be unofficially determined when Alabama and Tennessee clash at Knoxville Saturday. Most of the Yank and Giants will put their world series swag into annuities. Trust Tallman, who quit as head coach at West Virginia to head the state police, got himself married the other day. When General John J. Phelan, New York boxing boss, wed the other day Jimmy Johnston, long a thorn in the general's side, wired: "This is one match even the Johnstons can find no fault with." Joe Jacobs, the fight manager, who paid $350 for his new set of store teeth, still has to park 'em in his pocket when he eats.

"Slip" Madigan, St. Mary's coach, wired Mike Jacobs he'd take 200 ringside seats to the Freddie Steele-Fred Apostoli match if Mike would move it back from November 12 to November 19. Max Carey, one of the numerous ex-Dodger managers, now is a big shot on the Florida boxing commission. Is Casey Stengel apartment hunting in Kansas City? Don't fall over dead if Mike Jacobs and Jimmy Johnston hook up one of these days. Jacobs not only feels the hounding Johnston would make a swell guy in the organization, but it also is one way for the astute Mr. Jacobs to get his hands on Bob Pastor.

Campus Gossip Favors Glickman

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP).—

Coach Ossie Solem is keeping his own counsel on his Syracuse starting lineup for the Cornell game Saturday. Campus gossip, however, says that Marty Glickman is slated to start at left halfback in place of Art Morrison.

Last year Glickman made a 60-yard run against Cornell which led to the Orange's only touchdown in its 20 to 7 defeat. Two years ago, as a freshman, Glickman ran

Shot By Motorist She Tried to Aid

Two young boys and a 10-year-old girl, driving on a lonely road near Mishawaka, Ind., stopped to aid a motorist apparently in trouble. The motorist, a middle-aged man who cursed with a foreign accent, opened fire, killing the girl, Melba Moore (above), and all but one of the boys, Charles Walton, 17, one of her escorts.

Schirick Annuls Clinton Marriage

An order of annulment of the marriage of James Vincent Clinton, of New Paltz, and Mae Ella Clinton has been signed by Justice Harry E. Schirick following the taking of testimony in Supreme Court. The Clintons were married October 7, 1924 at New Paltz and the annulment is granted on the grounds of false and fraudulent representations by the defendant. Plaintiff alleged that his wife had failed and refused to raise a family. Peter H. Harp appeared for the plaintiff. The annulment decree is interlocutory to become final in three months.

MEXICAN DIVORCE IS DISSOLUTION GROUNDS

On the grounds a Mexican divorce decree which was secured by his wife's first husband was void, Joseph T. Murray, plaintiff, has been granted a dissolution of his marriage to Beatrice L. Murray, defendant, by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick. Mr. and Mrs. Murray were married at Lynbrook on July 11, 1935, after Mrs. Murray believed she had been separated from her first husband by a decree of divorce in 1935. The Mexican decree however is not recognized by the state of New York and on that grounds the second marriage has been set aside.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray appeared in court here together and testified in regard to the first marriage. Mrs. Murray testified she had been married to Brett Dickinson Holmes at Tully, N. Y., on June 8, 1926. They resided together for some time but on August 20, 1935, he was granted a Mexican divorce. Mrs. Murray told the court that neither she nor her husband had resided in Mexico and she also testified that she had not been served with a summons in the Mexican proceeding.

She asked that her marriage to Mr. Murray be dissolved because of the fact that the Mexican decree had not been a legal one and she had not been free at the time of her second marriage. Mr. Murray also testified to the facts which surrounded his marriage and asked the court to dissolve the marriage on the grounds that Mrs. Murray had a husband living at the time of the second marriage. Francis T. Murray appeared for plaintiff.

Judge Schirick has granted the dissolution.

Freeman Photo

An old time picture of upper Wall street, taken from North Front street, aroused so much interest when shown in the window of the Dederick drug store recently, along with old prescription books and articles that were a necessary part of the druggist's equipment in earlier days, that The Freeman reproduces it for the benefit of its readers. Along with it is given a picture of the same locality taken a few days since by a Freeman staff photographer, showing vividly the changes that the years have wrought.

The exact date of the old picture, nor who was the photographer who took it, could not be ascertained. When displayed it bore a card "Wall Street 80 years ago," but Fred L. Schramme, proprietor of Dederick's since 1928, said that that was an estimate based on the best information he had been able to secure and quite possibly was a bit too far back.

The fact that the old Tappen house was still standing at the corner of Wall and North Front streets, places it back at least as far as 1873 or early 1875, as is noted later. Perhaps some of the old timers may be able to find a clue in some of the business signs, or otherwise, that will more definitely fix the date.

In the newer picture the building that once housed the Sahler & Reynolds store, now occupied by the Paris Cloak & Suit Co., does not show and only the lower portion of the Bernstein building, which replaced the building occupied by Jansen's drug store, is shown.

Many differences in these two views of Wall street—"Then and Now"—at once strike the eye. Perhaps the rutted dirt street, with flag cross-walks and the lumber wagon and other horse drawn vehicles (and not many of them) will first attract attention, as compared with the modern pavement, cross-walks marked by white lines and the street filled with cars, parked and under way today. Incidentally, either they had no traffic rules back in those days or observance was very much the same as today. Note in the old picture the rig turning the corner sharply on its left, while a ways beyond another is being driven on the left hand side of the road. Then in the 1937 view note the car apparently marked "double" and, further on, what appears to be an example of "jaywalking."

A reminder of what was once a flourishing industry in years ago is seen in the two tracks running down Wall street. These were the tracks made of heavy flagstone over which load after load of bluestone from the quarries at West Hurley, Stony Hollow, Morgan Hill and other points were hauled through Kingston and down to the docks which extended from the railroad bridge at Wilbur for perhaps half a mile up the Rondout creek.

It is noticeable, too, that when this old picture was taken shade trees lined the street down as far as St. John's Church, now the site of Read's Theatre, the church having been moved to Albany avenue. Today the nearest one is the large tree which stands in front of the court house and which can be seen projecting over the street in the later picture.

The multitude of signs extending over the sidewalk today, most of them of the modern Neon variety, are in sharp contrast with the former days, when the only thing of the kind that appears is the large pestle and mortar on top of the square post by the corner drug store. Building fronts and awnings, however, were freely decorated with business names and details.

In lighting, Kingston had advanced a step in those days, gas lamps for street lighting having replaced the old oil lamps. It was considerably later that electric lights made their appearance, the first contract for electric lights having been let in November, 1888.

Of particular interest in this old picture is the corner house at the right, at that time still standing as a reminder of Colonial or at least Revolutionary days, replaced some 65 years ago by the present three-story brick building which houses the business of Sam Bernstein & Co.

Marius Schoonmaker, in his history of Kingston, writing of this building as it stood in 1820, at which time Wall street had not yet been opened up from John street to North Front, refers to it as "the large double two-story stone house of Christopher Tappen."

Mr. Schoonmaker adds that this was one of the old stone houses rebuilt after the burning of Kingston October 16, 1777. There had stood the homestead of Christoffel Tappen, head of the Tappen family, who died in 1740 and who during his day was prominent in the life of Kingston. His son, Christopher, who succeeded to the ownership of the place, was a man of ability and represented the county frequently in different representative bodies, both in colonial times and after the organization of the state government. Christopher Tappen was a member of the convention which framed and adopted the first state constitution. He was a brother-in-law of Governor George Clinton and held the office of deputy county clerk under him as chief from 1759 to 1812 and was himself county clerk from 1812 to 1821.

Governor Clinton made this house his home when he was in Kingston and during the sessions of the legislature in Kingston this was the executive mansion. There is a tradition (and it is given as such) that it was in this Tappen house and not in the Bogardus house that General Washington lodged when visiting the village of Kingston.

IT COST ME PLENTY Not TO BORROW

The tires on my car were pretty thin, but I put off getting new ones because I didn't have the cash—and I was against borrowing money. One wet night a tire blew out, we skidded. The car was a wreck, my wife was in the hospital three months. That time it cost me plenty not to borrow.

is shown standing in the picture, there stood in 1820 a frame building which was occupied for store purposes by Peter Tappen & Co. Peter being a son of Christopher Tappen. This building was torn down when Wall street was opened from John, the latter being the northern terminus of Wall street in 1820.

The present brick building which occupies the site of the Tappen house, was erected about 1873 by Isaac Bernstein, grandfather of the present Sam Bernstein of Sam Bernstein & Co. The latter has a picture showing the new building and the Bernstein sign, dated November, 1873, Isaac Bernstein having moved to that location some time after the opening of 1872, as an old ad of the latter date gave his address as North Front street (where the Baker furniture store is now located). "opposite Jansen's drug store."

25th Anniversary Of Newberry Co.

The Kingston store of the J. J. Newberry Co., along with the other stores of this well known chain, is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the organization of the company. The event will be observed with a special sale, which will start Saturday, October 16.

Organized 25 years ago at Stroudsburg, Pa., the Newberry organization has grown until today there are over 450 stores in the principal cities of the country, extending from coast to coast.

A rather unique feature is the fact that J. J. Newberry, who founded the chain, and who makes his home in Ossining, is still the president and active head of the business.
